Saint clement I, pope and martyr
St Clement was the third pope after St Peter and author of a famous letter to the Corinthians.
Saint Clement, also known as Pope Clement I, served as the Bishop of Rome in the late first century, approximately from 88 to 99 AD, and is considered one of the first Apostolic Fathers of the Church (Clement of Rome)
Tradition records him being sentenced to hard labour in a stone quarry in the Crimea and executed by being thrown into the sea, tied to an anchor (his emblem in art). Saint Clement's letter written in AD 95 is even older than some of the New Testament. He shows with the Old Testament stories how evil are the results of jealousy. He begs the Christians in Corinth to show mutual tolerance and love and to respect those set in authority. Peace must be the aim of all who follow Jesus, he said.
St Clements Isle, is the small rocky island just off Mousehole harbour. It is named after St Clement, the patron saint of mariners. Local tradition says a small chapel once stood on the island, and a hermit kept a light burning there to guide fishermen safely home.
